

Using 'and', 'or' and 'but'

You can also use 'and', 'or' and 'but' to join sentences.

Holger is a chef, but he hates cooking.

- 1 Put a tick by the sentences that use joining words correctly.
Put a cross by the ones that don't.

Let's either go to France and to Spain.

I like Alan or he doesn't like me.

School is great, but it can be tiring.

- 2 Draw a line to join each of these sentences together.

My sister is a pilot

but ducks love it.

I don't like the rain

and my brother is a teacher.

We can cook for ourselves or we can get a take-away.

- 3 Circle the correct option to complete the sentence below.

We can either play outside _____ we can watch TV.

and

or

but

Sentences no longer need to be lonely...

'And', 'or' and 'but' join sentences together.

