

Using and

You can join simple sentences by using the word and.

The bunny hopped up the garden. It ate some grass.

The bunny hopped up the garden, and it ate some grass.

1 Rewrite these sentences as one sentence, using the word and to join them together.

a A moth flew near the window. It patted the glass with its wings.

b My mum likes cake. She likes biscuits.

c My teddy is big. He has long fur.

d The wizard waved his wand. The cat turned into a tiger!

e The cake is chocolate flavour. It has creamy icing.

2 Draw a line to join the two parts of the sentences together so they make sense.

a I like reading books

1 and a sandpit in the park.

b I like lollies

2 and I like ice cream!

c I went to London

3 and a dog.

d I have a cat

4 and a skateboard.

e There is a swing

5 and watching films.

f I have a bike

6 and to Brighton.